

Last Updated 8th June 2014

Savannah Fund helps creative thinkers in Africa build their ideas into sustainable companies. We are a seed capital fund specializing in US$25,000-US$500,000 investments in early stage high growth technology startups. Initially focused on East Africa, we currently have investments in West and South Africa as well. The Fund aims to bridge the early stage and venture capital investment gap that currently exists in Africa. To achieve this objective, we combine capital with mentor networks both in the region and from Silicon Valley via an accelerator program and a follow-on independent seed fund.

The Savannah Fund team has worked closely with prominent founders locally and out of Silicon Valley. Based out of iHub, our mentors come from successful tech startups in Africa and experts from the likes of Twitter and Facebook according to the expertise that add value to our accelerator classes.

Africa may be considered the last frontier, but the Savannah Fund team (all previously entrepreneurs) is committed to translating our experiences and understanding of Africa's ecosystem to support entrepreneurs as they disrupt industries across Africa and impact the continent and the world.

As of June 2014, Savannah Fund has invested in 15 startups in 5 countries (Kenya, Uganda, Ghana, Nigeria, South Africa). Startups are on average about 2 years old and have raised over $8M dollars and created over 100 full time jobs.